Re: We are writing in behalf of the Wisconsin No Call List. Please prevent the FCC from changing our No Call List as petitioned by the Consumer Banking Assn. We have been on the No Call List since its inception. It has been glorious not to be disturbed by these insensitive marketers esp. during the evening dinner hours. Thank you for your efforts. Signed: Daniel J. Kelly

I am a 78 year old woman who finds it difficult to get to the telephone when it rings. I have three phones in my house, but I never seem to be near the phone when it rings.

It is very annoying to get to the telephone and find a telemarketing person on the other end of the line. I don't know which is worse, struggling to reach the telephone and finding someone on the line trying to sell me something I don't need, want or can't afford or getting to the telephone and finding no one on the line. When there is no one on the line one wonders if someone is checking the house to see if anyone is home.

I signed up for no call because it was an annoying experience to have these nuisance calls. I still get some, which I don't understand. If I had my way all telemarketing calls would be prohibited. If Wisconsin has to go with the Federal guidelines I'M afraid I'll get even more calls. I normally am not a rude person, but I shall hang up and make a note not to buy the product they are pushing. Sometimes it is hard to know what they are selling because I can't understand the caller.

I pay for the telephone for my own use and a safety measure, not to be harassed by a stranger.

I sincerely hope we can keep the Wisconsin guidelines for no calls and not have to accept the Federal guidelines.

Sincerely,

Shirley Barta

I would like to express my thoughts that the State of Wisconsin maintain the "No Call" list of their own, independent of whatever the federal government decides to do. I appreciate the efforts of our State and hope we continue to be a pacesetter in consumer protection area.

We have a right to privacy in our own home and telemarketers infringe upon that.

To the FCC, Legislators, and any other interested party:

Please do not interfere with Wisconsin's No Call list. I will be forced to get an unlisted number, screen all calls, or whatever else it takes to protect myself from the zillion of calls some of which are just plain scams. It takes important time and threatens my peace of mind.

Thank you.

To whom it may concern,

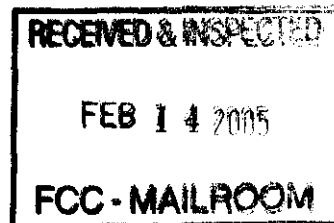

With 80% of Wisconsin Telephone users signed up for on the no call list for the FCC to even consider weakening our Do Not Call list is just, (I can't think of a better word), then DUMB.

I get enough calls from different charities and I was giving to these charities until I read in TIME magazine an article about these companies that are hired get up to 80% of the money collected. From now on I just tell the person I don't pledge on the phone.

I am hoping that enough people take the few minutes to write to you concerning this matter.

Sincerely,

Charles Doperalski
